Commitments

After completing the Student Interviews, discussing the Equity Self-Reflection, and reviewing recent data, including survey data, school teams should discuss what was learned and the review the document "How Learning Happens," particularly page 3. Then the team should ask, "What should we prioritize to support our students and work toward the school we wish to be?

The team should take the answers to this question and identify 2 to 4 commitments for the 2022-23 school year. For each commitment, the team will identify strategies that will advance these commitments.

School teams have a lot of flexibility when selecting the commitments that are identified. There is no requirement that commitments must align with specific subject areas, as was required in the past. Any of the full statements that appear on page 3 of the How Learning Happens framework, such as "Every child can see themselves reflected in teachers, leaders, curriculum, and learning materials" could serve as a commitment. To be meaningful, it is important that the commitments be informed by the Student Interviews, Equity Self-Reflection, and review of recent data, and the commitments should connect to the school's values and aspirations.

Strategies

After school teams identify their commitments, they should consider strategies that will allow the school to advance that commitment. School teams will need to identify how they will gauge success with this strategy, what the strategy entails, and any resources that are necessary to implement that strategy.

COMMITMENT I

Our Commitment

What is one commitment we will promote for 2023-24?

We commit to creating a welcoming school environment where every child feels safe, respected, represented, supported, and has a true sense of belonging.

Why are we making this commitment?

Things to potentially take into consideration when crafting this response:

- How does this commitment fit into the school's vision?
- Why did this emerge as something to commit to?
- In what ways is this commitment influenced by the "How Learning Happens" document? The Equity Self-Reflection? Student Interviews?
- What makes this the right commitment to pursue?
- How does this fit into other commitments and the school's long-term plans?

Sargent has a diverse student body, and we have strong relationships with our students and families. It is important to us that every student feels a sense of belonging in our classroom and school communities. We have a strong foundation to build on this critical work.

- Students shared in interviews that they don't see enough images of themselves at school (curriculum, posters, presenters, etc.)
- The Equity Self Reflection revealed that there is still work to be done with culturally responsive teaching.

Key Strategies and Resources

STRATEGY	METHODS	RESOURCES
What strategies will we pursue as part of this commitment?	What does this strategy entail?	What specifically will we look for during the year to know that this strategy is having the desired impact? (This could include qualitative or quantitative data.)	What resources (Schedule, Space, Money, Processes, Individuals) are necessary to support these strategies?
Student-selected greeting upon arrival @ the door	- all students should be greeted at the door - a choice of a handshake, high-five, wave, hug, or any other student-desired greeting.	- observing the comfortability of students	- teacher made print out/visuals of choices
Staff training for morning meeting	- in a circle, varied methods of greeting one another and building community.	- all teachers are conducting a morning meeting	- The Morning Meeting book - 15-20 minute faculty meeting
All staff conducting Morning Meeting	- review morning message, which might entail student engagement/responses	- observing the climate and community within the classroom	- The Morning Meeting book - Responsive Classroom trained teachers
Implement SEL curriculum	-Adopt the Fly Five SEL curriculum that supports the larger mission of Responsive Classroom	- observing the climate and community within the school.	Fly Five Curriculum (start kinder)
Host another Family Resource Night	Host a parent/family night where parents can learn about ways in which they can better support their child at home.	-Increase attendance at this event by 25%	Funding to pay teachers to run sessions, and funding to provide attendees with food and childcare

End-of-the-Year Desired Outcomes

Schools teams are invited to consider if the belief statements shared below connect to this commitment. Since each commitment is unique, school teams should decide how progress about this commitment might be noted. If the team's answer to a "we believe" prompt is no, that section should be left blank.

We believe these survey responses will give us good feedback about our progress with this commitment:

	Survey Question(s) or Statement(s)	Desired response (e.g. % agree or strongly agree)
Student Survey	 I feel safe at school. (agree: 78%) I feel like my voice is heard at school. (agree: 51%) My teacher knows what I like and what I don't like. (agree: 61%) I see images of people who look like me at school. (agree: 31%) 	 I feel safe at school. (agree: 90%) I feel like my voice is heard at school. (agree: 75%) My teacher knows what I like and what I don't like. (agree: 85%) I see images of people who look like me at school. (agree: 75%)
Staff Survey	 Students treat staff members with respect (100% Spring 2023) Staff members treat students with respect (100% Spring 2023) My school is safe (100% Spring 2023) 	Maintain three goals
Family Focus Groups	Open ended sessions where families gave feedback about communication, curriculum, and engagement	Families wanted to have more opportunities to learn how to help their child succeed academically.

We believe having the following occur will give us good feedback about our progress with this commitment:

Quantitative data and/or qualitative descriptions of where we strive to be at the end of the 2024-25 school year.

- Parents/families are aware that morning meetings are held and understand the purpose of the meetings.
- Parents/families will be able to recognize the components of the SEL curriculum that we implement.
- 85% of students will feel represented and affirmed at school (improvement from only 31% feeling affirmed).

COMMITMENT 2

Our Commitment

What is one commitment we will promote for 2023-24?

Why are we making this commitment?

Things to potentially take into consideration when crafting this response:

- How does this commitment fit into the school's vision?
- Why did this emerge as something to commit to?
- In what ways is this commitment influenced by the "How Learning Happens" document? The Equity Self-Reflection? Student Interviews?
- What makes this the right commitment to pursue?
- How does this fit into other commitments and the school's long-term plans?

We commit to designing meaningful learning experiences to ensure that every student is engaged in collaborative, relevant, and personalized work.

In order to achieve that goal, we need to make sure that all teachers feel supported to design and deliver lessons that are meaningful, personalized, and culturally responsive, and sustaining. Survey data suggested that students were seeking more choice in their learning and wanted the material to reflect their interests.

- In interviews, students shared that they like engaging, collaborative classes where they learn something new and interesting. There was no single content class students preferred; rather, common themes emerged. They like classes that really engage their interests, activities that allow them to work with their classmates and content that is interesting and sparks their curiosity.
- During the Equity Self-Reflection, teachers discussed the importance of culturally responsive and sustaining education. Teachers shared the different ways they plan for CRT and the need for additional support, curriculum, and professional development in this area.
 - Survey data showed that students were looking for more choices in their learning.

Creating opportunities for inquiry-based learning	Teachers will put students in the center of the activity and encourage students to develop thoughts and share them in a low-risk environment.	- More students are talking than teachers - Students become more confident and comfortable sharing and contributing. COMMITMENT 3

This section can be deleted if the school does not have a third commitment.

Our Commitment

What is one commitment we will promote for 2023-24?

Why are we making this commitment?

Things to potentially take into consideration when crafting this response:

- How does this commitment fit into the school's vision?
- Why did this emerge as something to commit to?
- In what ways is this commitment influenced by the "How Learning Happens" document? The Equity Self-Reflection? Student Interviews?
- What makes this the right commitment to pursue?
- How does this fit into other commitments and the school's long-term plans?

We commit to ongoing professional development and intentional conversations amongst the staff around diversity, equity, access, and inclusion.

- One of the greatest strengths of the Sargent community is its diversity.
 Teachers recognize the importance of supporting students from diverse backgrounds who bring many strengths and perspectives to the school.
 Receiving professional support and materials to ensure all students have a sense of belonging and see themselves in the content are top priorities. In interviews, students consistently noted that their classmates are supportive of one another. A positive and caring culture at Sargent is foundational to the school. This is a strength the team can build from.
- During the Equity Self Reflection, teachers named both that there have been opportunities for teachers to learn and grow together and that there is still a lack of clarity around what leading with diversity, equity, and inclusion looks like. A need for more professional development was consistently brought up.

We believe having the following occur will give us good feedback about our progress with this commitment:

Quantitative data and/or qualitative descriptions of where we strive to be at the end of the 2022-23 school year.

- 4 professional development sessions for all staff members, over the course of the year, on topics related to diversity, equity, access, and inclusion.
- Reduce disproportionality in achievement and discipline data indicates that these professional development sessions and conversations are improving the culture and climate for all students
- Draft a common understanding of what leading with diversity, equity, access, and inclusion means at Sargent Elementary School and have Equity Team lead the work.
 - Purchase new teacher resources and examine what is currently being used from an equity lens.

Evidence-Based Intervention

All CSI and TSI schools must implement at least one evidence-based intervention as part of its SCEP. The intervention identified must meet the criteria of a Tier 1, Tier 2, or Tier 3 evidence-based intervention under ESSA. More information can be found at: http://www.nysed.gov/accountability/evidence-based-interventions

Schools may choose one of three options for identifying their evidence-based intervention:

Option 1: Selecting a strategy from the State-Supported Evidence Based Strategies located at: http://www.nysed.gov/accountability/state-supported-evidence-based-strategies

Option 2: Selecting an evidence-based intervention identified in one of three clearinghouses: What Works Clearinghouse, Social Programs That Work, or Blueprints for Healthy Youth Development

Option 3: Reviewing research to identify its own evidence-based intervention that meets the criteria for ESSA evidence-based intervention Tier 1, Tier 2, or Tier 3 found at: http://www.nysed.gov/accountability/evidence-based-interventions

Directions: Place an "X" in the box next to the path the school has chosen for identifying its evidence-based intervention and follow the corresponding directions for that path.

Students are able to express their identity, background, culture, and at the surface, their wants and needs in a safe space. This framework teaches respect for each other, teaches turn-taking, and fosters social-emotional growth. Commitment 2: Historically, staff have experience training and using Responsive Classroom and have found it useful. Given the buy-in and knowledge already present for Responsive Classroom and its broad applicability to the challenges identified in the report, we believe this is the best, most efficient means of improving diversity, equity, access, and inclusion. We plan to deepen our use of Responsive Classroom by training more staff, teacher partnership, classroom observation, teacher debrief sessions, check-ins during staff meetings, etc. NYS testing and school literacy data indicate a school-wide trend that our students need increased attention/instruction around analyzing and thinking about complex texts. Our Team's Process

Background

NYSED requires that the SCEP is developed in consultation with parents and school staff, and in accordance with §100.11 of Commissioner's Regulations. All schools are expected to follow the guidelines outlined in the document "Requirements for Meaningful Stakeholder Participation" found at: http://www.nysed.gov/common/nysed/files/programs/accountability/scep-requirements-stakeholder-participation.pdf This section outlines how we worked together to develop our plan.

Team Members

Use the space below to identify the members of the SCEP team and their role (e.g. teacher, assistant principal, parent).

Learning As A Team

Directions

After completing the previous sections, the team should complete the reflective prompts below.

Student Interviews

Describe how the Student Interview process informed the team's plan

There were two major themes that came out of the student interviews. First, students shared in interviews that they generally feel supported and that their interactions with peers and teachers are positive. They consistently noted that students do not bully one another, are respectful, and try to help one another as much as possible. Second, students shared that they like engaging, collaborative classes where they learn something new and interesting. There was no single content class students preferred; rather, common themes emerged. They like classes that really engage their interests, activities that allow them to work with their classmates and content that is interesting and sparks their curiosity. Another theme that emerged was the need to incorporate more culturally responsive teaching into the curriculum, materials used, and teacher's pedagogy. Both these themes informed the two commitments we are making as a school team to focus on creating a welcoming student environment and meaningful learning experiences. We have an excellent foundation to work from, as the student interviews have shown, but we want to ensure that these two commitments are valid for every single student.

Equity Self-Reflection

Describe how the Equity Self-Reflection informed the team's plan

Two themes emerged during the equity self-reflection. First, teachers see Sargent Elementary School as a welcoming community for students. Second, more and more teachers see the importance of diversity, equity, and inclusions and culturally responsive and sustaining education. However, teachers want more training on this second theme. A common question is how to incorporate practices that support diversity, equity, and inclusion in a developmentally appropriate way for early-grade students. Creating a welcoming community is one of our commitments. We see the work around diversity, equity, and inclusion and around culturally responsive and sustaining education as living in our second commitment to creating meaningful learning experiences for students.

Next Steps

Next Steps

1. Sharing the Plan:

- a. CSI Schools: As you develop your plan, please feel free to share the plan with your NYSED liaison for input when it would be helpful. When the SCEP team is satisfied with the plan, please indicate to your liaison that the school is ready to share its full plan for approval. Plans should be shared by August 1, 2022.
- b. TSI Schools: When your plan is ready for review, please share the plan with your District, which will approve your plan. Plans will need to be approved before the first day of the 2022-23 school year.
- c. All Schools: Ensure that the local Board of Education has approved the plan and that the plan is posted on the district website.

2. Implementing the Plan (for all schools):

- a. Ensure that the plan is implemented no later than the first day of school
- b. Monitor implementation closely and make adjustments as needed
- c. Ensure that there is professional development provided to support the strategic efforts described within this plan.
- d. Work with the district in developing the 1003 Title I School Improvement Grant application designed to support the implementation of the activities identified in the school and district plan.
